Description

Palladium House (formally Ideal House) was constructed in the late 1920's for the National Radiator Company in the style of its parent company's headquarters in Manhattan. The striking polished black granite elevations and enamel friezes render it one of the most distinctive, art deco buildings in the West End. The available 1st floor has been refurbished to provide bright contemporary office space.

Soho

Soho is now the creative hub of London's booming media industry and has the densest concentration of restaurants, cafés, clubs and bars in central London and truly represents the vibrant, bustling heart of this amazing city.

Soho is a location roughly bounded by Oxford Street to the north, Charing Cross Road to the east, Leicester Square to the south and Regent Street to the west. London's media industry thrives here with multiple advertising agencies, television and radio studios choosing Soho as their base of operations.
